It is a little known fact that Ping Pong has a long tradition in Woodstock, dating back to the Sea Horse Tavern on Rock City Road where its ping pong table attracted artists and locals for conviviality and friendly competition. The game at the Woodstock School of Art is a continuation of those matches, which have been played with few interruptions since the 1940's. This particular game started in 1982, moved to several locations, and is now the official sport of the Woodstock School of Art.
